Letter of Intent for Vice President of HoGS

Hey y'all, its your current Vice President, Skyler. I've been here for almost two years now, and over that time, I've observed much of how this floor works, from many angles. I've seen it as an incoming freshman, with no idea that the House of General Science even existed. I've seen it as a member, observing the floor, its committees, and how they operate. I've seen it as a committee head, doing my best to improve the floor, the facilities available to it, and its outreach tools, through both the website and the lightboard in the social lounge window. And I've seen it as a Vice President, I've seen all of the committees, and their how they connect and how they run amongst each other.

During this time, I've been able to see the house threw many lenses, and I've observed how the committees work. As such, I can come into the position of Vice President with experience in several of the committees, so communication from committees to eBoard can be just a little more seamless. I also have an excellent understanding of how the Vice President role works, now being the Vice President for several weeks now.

If I am elected to the position, I will continue to fulfill the duties of the role to the best of my ability, continuing to update points weekly as much as possible, working with committees when and if issues arise, and overall, being a good role model for the floor. This position deserves a ton of effort put into it, and as such I will continue to put as much effort into it as I have been thus far.

Despite not even realizing that I was on HoGS, or what HoGS was for that matter, when I first came to RIT, I quickly was sucked in, and had a blast. This floor pulled me out of my shell and has pulled me through good times and bad. This floor has changed my life for the better, and I want to give back, and while I've been in this position, I feel like I haven't truly given back yet, and I feel I have a responsibility to fulfill my role fully. Thank y'all for your time, and good luck, to both the individual elected to VP, be it myself or someone else, and to everybody with classes this semester.
